WANTED
A Young Man

Did you ever hunt for something you knew perfectly well existed—but you couldn't find it?

That's the case with me. I know that in Washington there is just the sort of young man I want, but I don't know his street number or I would send messenger boy after RUSH. That being out of question I am taking the most speedy method—VERTISING.

Here is his description. Young—25 to 30 years old.

Goes to bed early and up early enough to be at office at 8:29 a. m.—8 would do, but the man I will be a minute ahead of day, except at closing time then he will be too busy to know what time it is.

He must know bookkeeping—must want to be an auditor or an expert—must want to so much that he doesn't think about anything else.

Must be keen as a thoroughbred. If a man under him is going wrong he must smell it, or taste it or get it in some way before the trouble is twenty-four hours old.

He must be neat—neat about his books—neat about his clothes—neat about his office—neat about his help.

I don't mind if he has red hair—red hair is a good label if the contents live up to the package.

If this young man wants $50 a week he will be wasting his time and mine in coming to see me. If he thinks he is WORTH $50 and wants to prove it I will give him a chance. I will go him $50 while he is demonstrating, but I won't waste his time nor mine for long if he does not measure up.

There is a young man in Washington that just fills the above specifications. HE can go to work tomorrow if he applies to Mr. Lomerson, 1329 E Street N. W., Ground Floor.
